Anti-Money Laundering

We advise on all aspects of money laundering investigations and AML compliance - including drafting internal policies and procedures, designing training programs and together with our consulting team, preparing workflows and conducting gap analyses and controls testing.

Anti-money laundering is a key part of the fight against financial crime. When money laundering is suspected, we advise you on your reporting requirements, including whether payments can be made and how to manage the risk of "tipping off".

We can handle internal investigations as well as criminal and regulatory enforcement investigations and supervisory reviews.

We regularly advise clients like you on related civil claims by affected customers or potential victims.

How we can help you:

- Carry out risk assessments, prepare policies and design customer and counterparty due diligence procedures.
- Advise on complying with guidance from relevant regulatory bodies and on police and investigatory agency powers, data protection, whistleblowing issues and legal privilege.
- Advise on money-laundering risk and on obtaining 'consent' to transact.
- Undertake internal investigations and represent clients in external investigations.
- Defend companies and their officers in regulatory and criminal enforcement actions involving money-laundering and other illicit finance issues.
- Conduct 'look backs', compliance uplifts and KYC refresh exercises.
- Train companies and their employees on a range of topics, including illicit finance typologies for transaction monitoring; the overall AML regulatory requirements; and efficient ways to meet such rules in a cost-effective, low-disruption manner.

Sanctions

It's becoming increasingly challenging for companies operating internationally to navigate the ever-changing landscape of economic sanctions.

Sanctions are imposed by the US, regional bodies such as the EU and global organisations like the UN. A compliance failure can put your company at risk of civil, monetary or criminal penalties.

Our sanctions lawyers are here to help you. We work with you to advise you on compliance with the US and non-US sanctions, OFAC laws and regulations, and applicable blocking statutes, while pursuing legitimate commercial activities. We work as one team with colleagues from the US, Europe, and China/Hong Kong. We address your problems as they arise and help design reporting and compliance structures that anticipate and reduce the associated risks.

Our team helps you understand which of your global affiliates, officers and employees are required to comply with sanctions and how your corporate and governance structures will impact you. Our aim is to reduce your sanctions risk by assessing your compliance programs and suggesting operational changes. Additionally, we can support you in getting licenses and ensuring that otherwise-sanctioned transactions are permissible. Our team advises you in all aspects of tackling potential violations, including voluntary disclosures and penalty assessments.

We monitor developments in the sanctions daily. We have experience working with agencies that implement sanctions and assist clients across a variety of industries. Our clients are major multinational companies in electronic, internet/technology, telecommunications, banking, insurance, food, pharmaceutical, medical device, media, travel, retail, energy, infrastructure, aviation, automotive, and education industries.

We're at the forefront of addressing the US sanctions and measures on China, Hong Kong and the Chinese counter-sanctions laws. Our US offices work cross-border with the Chinese and Hong Kong offices to advise you on the complexities of the US human rights sanctions targeting Xinjiang province and Hong Kong. We also advise on navigating conflicts of laws issues and mitigating risk under Chinese counter-sanctions measures.
